What We Offer

Advisory | Procurement | Supervisory

This is the first stage of our core business (Procurement), where we help small, medium and large organisations in making the right procurement decisions that suits their business needs.

We give professional advice and recommendations by carrying out extensive research on the business needs of our prospective and existing clients.

Our advisory service guarantees high Return on Investment (ROI), as we are very much concerned about the benefits our clients should get from every investment they make.

Advisory

Procurement

The heart of our business is Procurement, and this has to do with helping small, medium and large organisations with their local and international procurement activities in order to save money and time, without compromising quality.

We provide professional procurement services based on our advice and recommendations to prospective and existing clients.

We also serve as a third party Procurement Management Company to supplement internal procurement departments of various organisations.

This is the last stage of our core business (Procurement), whereby supervision of procurement services rendered to our clients is done where required.

In the area of supervision, we help our clients to organise and monitor their procurement activities.

We supervise by making sure that every engagement we take on are being executed excellently.
